FOREWORD

The task of compiling a family history and genealogy such as has been attempted in this book is one that is surrounded with many difficulties. To begin at the present time to assemble all the information that is necessary is an almost impossible task, but in this case the information concerning the earlier generations had been gathered many years ago by Mrs. Jennie Agnes McDill Woods. It is due to her interest in the family history and to her care in recording these facts and the stories told to her by her parents, grandparents and other older persons in the family, that they have been saved for posterity.

It would be impossible to complete a work of this kind without the help and cooperation of a larger number of interested persons. To even list all of these persons would require several pages but there are a few who have done more than their share of the work, and who should be mentioned here. Miss Zella McDill, sister of Mrs. Jennie Woods, has carried on the work of copying and correspondence. Mr. George McDill of Glendale, Calif. was for many years a traveling secretary of the YMCA and in his travels made it his habit to scan the telephone and city directories in the cities which he visited for the name McDill. It was through his efforts that much of the data on the family of Hugh McDill and Roxanna Stuart were collected. Mr. Claude McDill of Charleston, South Carolina has done practically all the work on the family of John McDill of South Carolina. Mrs. Will Leiner, Mrs. Ethel Austin, Miss Maggie Reynolds, Miss Agnes Glenn, and Mrs. Margaret Glenn are a few of the others who have helped.

In the beginning this book was intended to be a record of the descendents of Thomas McDill and Margaret Chestnut, with some record of Thomas' brother Hugh; but as the work progressed it was decided to try and include some information about all persons who have the name McDill, MacDill, Madill or Medill. However very little has been found concerning the Madills or Medills, so they have not been included, except for the few cases where they are definitely related to the McDills. No attempt has been made to trace the relationship back to Ireland or Scotland, but the information is recorded in order that it may be read by others and also in the hopes that someone who reads may have more information that will be of help in this matter. The work of tracing a family genealogy is like an uncurable disease, and once begun there is no end. The compilers do not expect to stop, once this book is published, but the work will go on through the years.

No claim is made for the absolute accuracy of the information set down on the following pages, although every effort has been made to make it so. In many cases the source of the original information has been lost. In places where there is conflicting information, especially in the dates, both dates have been given with the less certain one in parenthesis.

We hope that if there are corrections to be made or any additional material that is known to any reader, he will feel it his duty to inform us. All correspondence should be addressed to Box 12, Morning Sun, Ohio.

INTRODUCTION

The history of this family will perhaps be easier understood if we first turn our thoughts to times and events in Ireland before the emigrations.

In the beginning of the reign of James VI the emigrations from Scotland to Ulster began and about the time of the English settlement of Virginia hundreds of enterprising Scots were crossing the Irish Channel to build themselves homes and communities in Downs and Antrim. James was interested in planting in Ireland the low-land Scots who were peace loving and protestants. Religious persecution was almost continuous. As one ruler died and another was crowned the religion of the people would be changed, then another wave of persecutions would sweep the country. The penal laws against Roman Catholics and Presbyterians are the special glory of Queen Anne's time. People were not permitted to worship God according to the dictates of their conscience. Ministers were liable to three months imprisonment for preaching a sermon and a fine of a hundred pounds for celebrating the Lord's Supper. Many and various repressive measures fashioned the history of Ireland during the first seventy years of the eighteenth Century. The country was utterly wretched and broken-hearted. Its agriculture was miserable, and chronic scarcity alternated with actual famine; it had little commerce and no manufactures, save the slowly increasing linen manufacture of Ulster.

The emigration from Ulster is one of the most striking features of Irish history, there was nothing to induce the men of the North to remain in Ireland, and they left in crowds. In 1718, there is mention of 'both ministers and people going off'; the big migrations taking place in the last 50 years of the century. Many of the emigrants were of the weaver class and when the linen trade was low the passenger trade was high.

Many ships made regular scheduled trips between North Ireland and the United States. MacLean in his book Scotch-Highlanders in America tells us that there were three ports open to the Scotch-Irish. Newcastle and Philadelphia, Penn. and Charleston, South Carolina. Those landing at the southern port usually sought the fertile forest lands of the upper country, approaching North Carolina on the one side and Georgia on the other. They gradually extended the line of their settlements southward for a considerable distance; while on the north, they met a counter-tide of Scotch Irish emigration from Pennsylvania and Virginia. Those who landed on the Delaware, after the desirable lands east of the Alleghanies in Pennsylvania were occupied, turned their course westward and southward, overrunning the Cumberland and Shenandoah valleys, settling the southern Virginia counties along the eastern base of the Blue Ridge, and at an early date occupying the fertile plains of the Yadkin and Catawba. Here, these latter met the southern tide, and the stream again turned westward, to the wilderness long known as 'beyond the mountains', where the French Broad and Clinch River settlements laid the foundations of the present state of Tennessee. As we follow the history of the opening up of all of the frontier countries we find the Scotch Irish were among the first emigrants to go. They took with them their desire for places of worship, schools for their children and an every present urge to better themselves.

Why our people came to America is perhaps quite easy to understand. It was primarily an economic cause coupled with a desire for religious freedom. At this particular time the state of South Carolina was governed by an unusually good body of men, such as William Moultrie, Pinckney, Laurens, and they wished the state of South Carolina to be settled with people of their own choosing. They passed an act by the Council known as the bounty act. This act especially applied to poor protestants. It was in effect for about ten years from 1763-1773. Immigrants in addition to land were given cash to amount to about $25.00, as well as cow, horse, or mule and an allowance for implements. Not only could they find a new home and a chance for their improvement but also they could now establish their church and worship as their heart desired.

ORIGIN OF THE NAME

There are no definite facts to show where or when the name McDill originated. It has always been thought to be a Scotch-Irish name since the McDills came from the north of Ireland. However the name has not been found in any of the Scotch or Irish lists of names that have been examined. One tradition that appears in several different branches of the family is that the name was originally Medille and that the people were French Huguenots, who were driven out of France into Scotland and later into Ireland. A letter written in 1897 by Joseph Medill of Chicago to Mrs. G. E. McDill at Stevens Point, Wisconsin supports this tradition as follows:

"There is some doubt whether the Medills of Madills are of ancient Scotch ancestry, or of Huguenot French descent. An old Irishman, now 87 years old, Thos. T. Madill, still living, told me 20 years ago, that being in western Scotland some 60 years ago he found two very old maids, sisters, 80 or 90 years old, writing their names Medill, who told him that the original name was 'Medille', and that the family was French and were exiled in 1600 or thereabouts from Western France by Catholic persecution, they belonging to the Huguenot colonists. -- On the other hand my father, demised 34 years ago, always said that the ancient name of our family was 'McDill' -- that his father and great-grandfather said so and that 'Mc' was changed to 'Me' and 'Ma' about 200 years ago, for some reason stated which I do not remember at present. ---- I visited Ireland in 1873 and an old aunt and uncle of mine then about 80 and 85 years of age, expressed the opinion that the McDill and Medills were distantly related."

In many cases the variation in the spelling seems to be a matter of preference, since we find members of the same immediate family using different spellings, and even the same person using different spellings at different times. However there are groups of Madills and Medills in this country, which are quite distinct from the McDills. They have not been included in this book, since they are rather large groups, especially the Madills in and around Toronto, Canada, and there was not space to include them all. It is hoped that sometime this information may be collected and published.

EARLY CENSUS RECORDS

From the first United States Census, taken about 1790, we find the following names listed. This census gave the names of the heads of the families and the number of males and females, including the heads of the family, in each family. It is interesting to note that there are no names spelled MacDill, Medill, or Madill listed in this census.

These names have been identified as follows:

1. (Widow) McDill, may have been the widow of one of the brothers of Thomas, possibly Nathaniel
2. Thomas McDill, came from Ireland in 1772.
3. John McDill, son of Thomas (2).
4. John McDill, moved to Randolph Co., Ill., probably a nephew of Thomas (2).
5. Sam McDill, unknown, his name appears in the census of 1800 and 1810, but no McDills are listed in North Carolina thereafter.
6. Catherine McDill, possibly came from Lancaster Co., Pa. and may have been the mother of James (7)*
7. James McDill, probably came to Ross Co., Ohio in 1795.
8. George McDill, one of the early McDills in Pennsylvania.
9. Jacob McDill, another of the early McDills in Pennsylvania.

*Catherine's name is also listed in Maryland in 1800 and 1810. No McDills are listed in Maryland thereafter.

EXPLANATION OF NOTATION USED

The McDill families in America can be roughly divided into two large groups. First, those whose ancestry can be traced back to John McDill (1675-1761) and Janet Leslie of Ireland, and second, all other families of McDills. Of course this does not mean that these two groups are not related, but only that nothing is known which will prove or disprove this relationship. In this book the first group is much the larger of the two. It is made up of four families or lines: (A) Margaret McDill Peden, (B) Thomas H. McDill, (C) Hugh McDill, and (D1) John McDill. The first three of these are known to be the children of John McDill and Janet Leslie. The fourth, John McDill, who later settled in Randolph County, Illinois is thought to be a nephew of Thomas McDill and a grandson of John and Janet.

The second group consists in several distinct families. These families are given in as much detail as is known, but there is not sufficient information at hand to relate them to each other or to the first group.

As an example of the notation used let us take the Thomas H. McDill family. Thomas had nine children which are given the symbols, B1, B2, B3, etc. Their children, Thomas' grandchildren are then given the symbols, B11, B12, - B21, B22, etc. The next generation is indicated by B11-1, B21-2, etc., i. e. adding one number for each generation; thus the number of digits following the letter indicates the number of generations from the common ancestor, Thomas. In order to avoid too long a string of numbers the letter and first two digits are separated from the others by a dash and are omitted from the text, being given at the top of each page. In the few cases where there are more than nine children in a family the numbers 10, 11, and 12 are underlined thus - B710-23 - to show that the 10 is one digit.

In the second group of families each family is numbered as a unit, giving the number one (1) to the oldest known ancestor.

Early South Carolina Records

One of the first records of Thomas McDill is the record of his appearance before the legislature of South Carolina at Charleston on Jan. 6, 1773. The legislative body was known at that time as the "Council", and the minutes of this body are recorded at the World War Memorial Building at Columbia, S. C. The minutes show that Thomas McDill was granted 400 acres of land in Craven Co., S. C. on a branch of Rocky Creek. This land was bounded on the north by Walter Brown and Robert Wiley's land, on the NE by Widow Adams' land, on the SE by land laid out for Mathews and Mappels, and on the SW by David Chesnut. The grant was certified by the Council, Jan. 14, 1773 and granted Apr. 21, 1774. This land in what is now Chester Co. is still in the McDill family, being owned at the present time by Samuel Moffatt McDill, Jr. of Atlanta, Ga., a great-great-grandson of Thomas McDill. This makes 167 years that this land has been owned and tilled by descendants of Thomas McDill.

It is thought that Thomas McDill came direct from County Antrim, Ireland to Charleston, S. C., as one of his sons so states in his application for Revolutionary War pension. We are not certain just what ship they came on but we find in the Marine News column of the early Charleston newspaper the arrivals of the following ships from Ireland in the 30 days prior to the date of his appearance before the Council, namely:

"Pennsylvania Farmer", Capt. Charles Robeson, from Belfast.

"Lord Dunluce", Capt. James Gillies, from Larne, Ire.

"Hopewell", Capt. John Martin, from Belfast.

"Freemason", Capt. John Semple, from Newry, Ire.

Correspondence with McDills still living in County Antrim and search of old records fail to show any church in Ireland by the name of Hopewell, so the inference is that they may have come on the ship "Hopewell", since Thomas McDill was one of the first elders and helped to build Hopewell A. R. P. Church in Chester Co., S. C., his son George was one of the first elders in Hopewell Church, near Covington, Ga., and his sons David and Thomas were officers in the first Hopewell Church in Preble Co. Ohio.

In the list of land grants before the Council on Jan. 6, 1773 we find the names of several hundred other families who settled near the McDills, namely: his brother-in-law, Alexander Chesnut, his father-in-law, David Chesnut, his brother-in-law, John Peden, his kinsman, David Maffit (Moffatt) and many others.

We also find that Nathaniel McDill came on the ship "Pennsylvania Farmer" and landed at Charleston Dec. 19, 1772. He was granted land in Fairfield County between Cedar Creek and Broad River, 300 acres. In another record we find a grant of 350 acres to John McDill on Fishing Creek, Craven Co. This is the John McDill who later moved to Randolph County, Ill. and is thought to be a nephew of Thomas. On the same page in the record book with John McDill's grant is one of 100 acres to Mary McDill. Her land is bounded by McDonald's land, Bonner's land, Moffatt's land and McDonald's land. There is nothing to show her relation to the others.

In the Revolutionary War records at Columbia we find the following:

John McDill (1675-1761) and his wife, Janet Leslie, of Broughnow, near Broughshane, Ballymena Parish, County Antrim, Ireland, had two sons and one daughter of which we have definite record, tradition tells us of four more sons. There may have been more children. In 1772 their daughter, Margaret (Peggy) and her husband, John Peden, with their family and Thomas McDill and his wife, Margaret Chestnut, with their family came to Chester District, South Carolina. In 1780 or 1785 three other brothers are said to have come from Ireland and settled in South Carolina, probably in Abbeville or Fairfield district. In 1793 or 1794 another brother, Hugh, and his wife, Roxanna Stuart, with their family came from Ireland and settled in what is now Crawford Co., Pennsylvania. John McDill, who is thought to be a grandson of John and Janet [Leslie] McDill, came to South Carolina at about the same time and later moved to Randolph Co., Ill.

A. - Margaret McDill Peden

Margaret McDill was born in August 1715 at Broughnow, Ire. She died in 1788 and is buried near Catholic Church, Chester Co., S. C. In 1730 she married John Peden, son of James and Mary [Mills] Peden, born 1709, died 1791(2), buried near his wife. He was an Ulsterman and Presbyterian Elder. They had seven sons in the Revolution. Some of the family are buried in unmarked graves in the Strong Graveyard. The genealogy and history of her family is recorded in "The Pedens in America", by Eleanor M. Hewell of Greenville, S. C. This book is an account of a reunion of the Peden-Alexander-Morton-Morrow Families held at Fairview Presbyterian Church, Greenville Co., S. C., Aug. 15-16, 1899. In it are recorded the speeches given at this reunion, giving many interesting facts about the older generations. Margaret McDill and John Peden had ten children as follows, all born in Ireland:

1. Mary, 1732- , m. James Alexander.
2. James, 1734-1811, member of Provincial Congress.
3. Jane, 1737(8)- , m. (1) -- Morton; m. (2) Samuel Morrow.
4. Thomas, 1743-1834, m. Elizabeth White.
5. William, 1749-1817, m. Mary Archer.
6. Elizabeth, 1750-1824, m. William Gaston.
7. John, 1752-1810, m. Elizabeth Ann Baker.
8. Samuel, 1754-1835, m. Katherine White.
9. Alexander, 1856-1841, m. Rebecca Martin.
10. David, 1760-1823, m. (1) E. Goodgion, m. (2) Margaret Hughes.

All these had rather large families.

According to some of the stories told in "The Pedens in America" the Pedens settled first in Pennsylvania and later moved to South Carolina.

B. - Thomas H. McDill.

Thomas H. McDill was born in 1725 at Broughnow, Ireland, he died Dec. 4, 1794. In 1760 he married Margaret Chestnut, daughter of David and Janet Chestnut, who was born Nov. 1, 1739 and died Dec. 6, 1827. They are both buried in the Strong Graveyard. On their way to America the crew of the ship mutinied and threw the captain overboard. The First Mate sympathized with the crew and took command. They planned to take the immigrants to the Bermudas and sell them into slavery. As Thomas McDill had had some previous experience as a sailor, he was pressed into service and in mixing with the crew learned of their plans. He told his fellow immigrants and under his leadership the crew was overpowered, put in irons and Thomas McDill sailed the ship to America, landing at Charleston. (Some accounts indicate that they landed either at New York or in Chesapeake Bay and spent some time in Pennsylvania before going to South Carolina). They settled on Little Rocky Creek where Thomas had a grant of land from the King of England. Thomas and Margarat had nine children as follows:

1. John, 1761-1848, m. Mary Brown.
2. David, 1763-1843, m. Isabella McQuiston.
3. Samuel, 1767-1851, m. Jennet Bonner.
4. James, 1769-1854, m. Margaret Chestnut.
5. Margaret, 1772- , m. William Chestnut.
6. Thomas, 1775-1813, m. Mary Young.
7. George, 1777-1863, m. Margaret Douglass.
8. Alexander, 1780-1838, never married.
9. Jane, 1785-1870, m. Alexander Brown.

(Additional material to be added on page 5.)

McCullough and had eight children. His second wife is buried at Catholic Church Cemetery. William Strong moved to Tipton Co., Tenn. Some of his children went to west Tenn. and some to middle Tenn.)

B1 - JOHN MCDILL

John McDill was born in Ireland in 1761 or 62 and died Nov. 3, 1848. He settled in South Carolina. He enlisted in the South Carolina Militia, in Capt. Nixon's company, General Sumter's command. Under Act of June 7, 1832, he applied for a pension in the Spring Term of Court 1833. In his application he states that he was born in Ireland in 1762, but had no record of his birth except the word of his father, long since dead. He states that he emigrated to Charleston and came immediately to Chester District. He was granted a pension and his name was placed on the pension roll, Aug. 7, 1833, the pension commencing Mar. 4, 1831. The annual allowance was $29.00. Payments were made annually from 1837 to 1848 inclusive.

He was married to Mary Brown, who died Dec. 2, 1832, aged 61 years. She was a sister of Jennet Brown Chestnut. They are both buried in the Strong Graveyard.

The McDill clan do not seem to have been fond of owning slaves. From the various census records we find the following, who owned slaves:

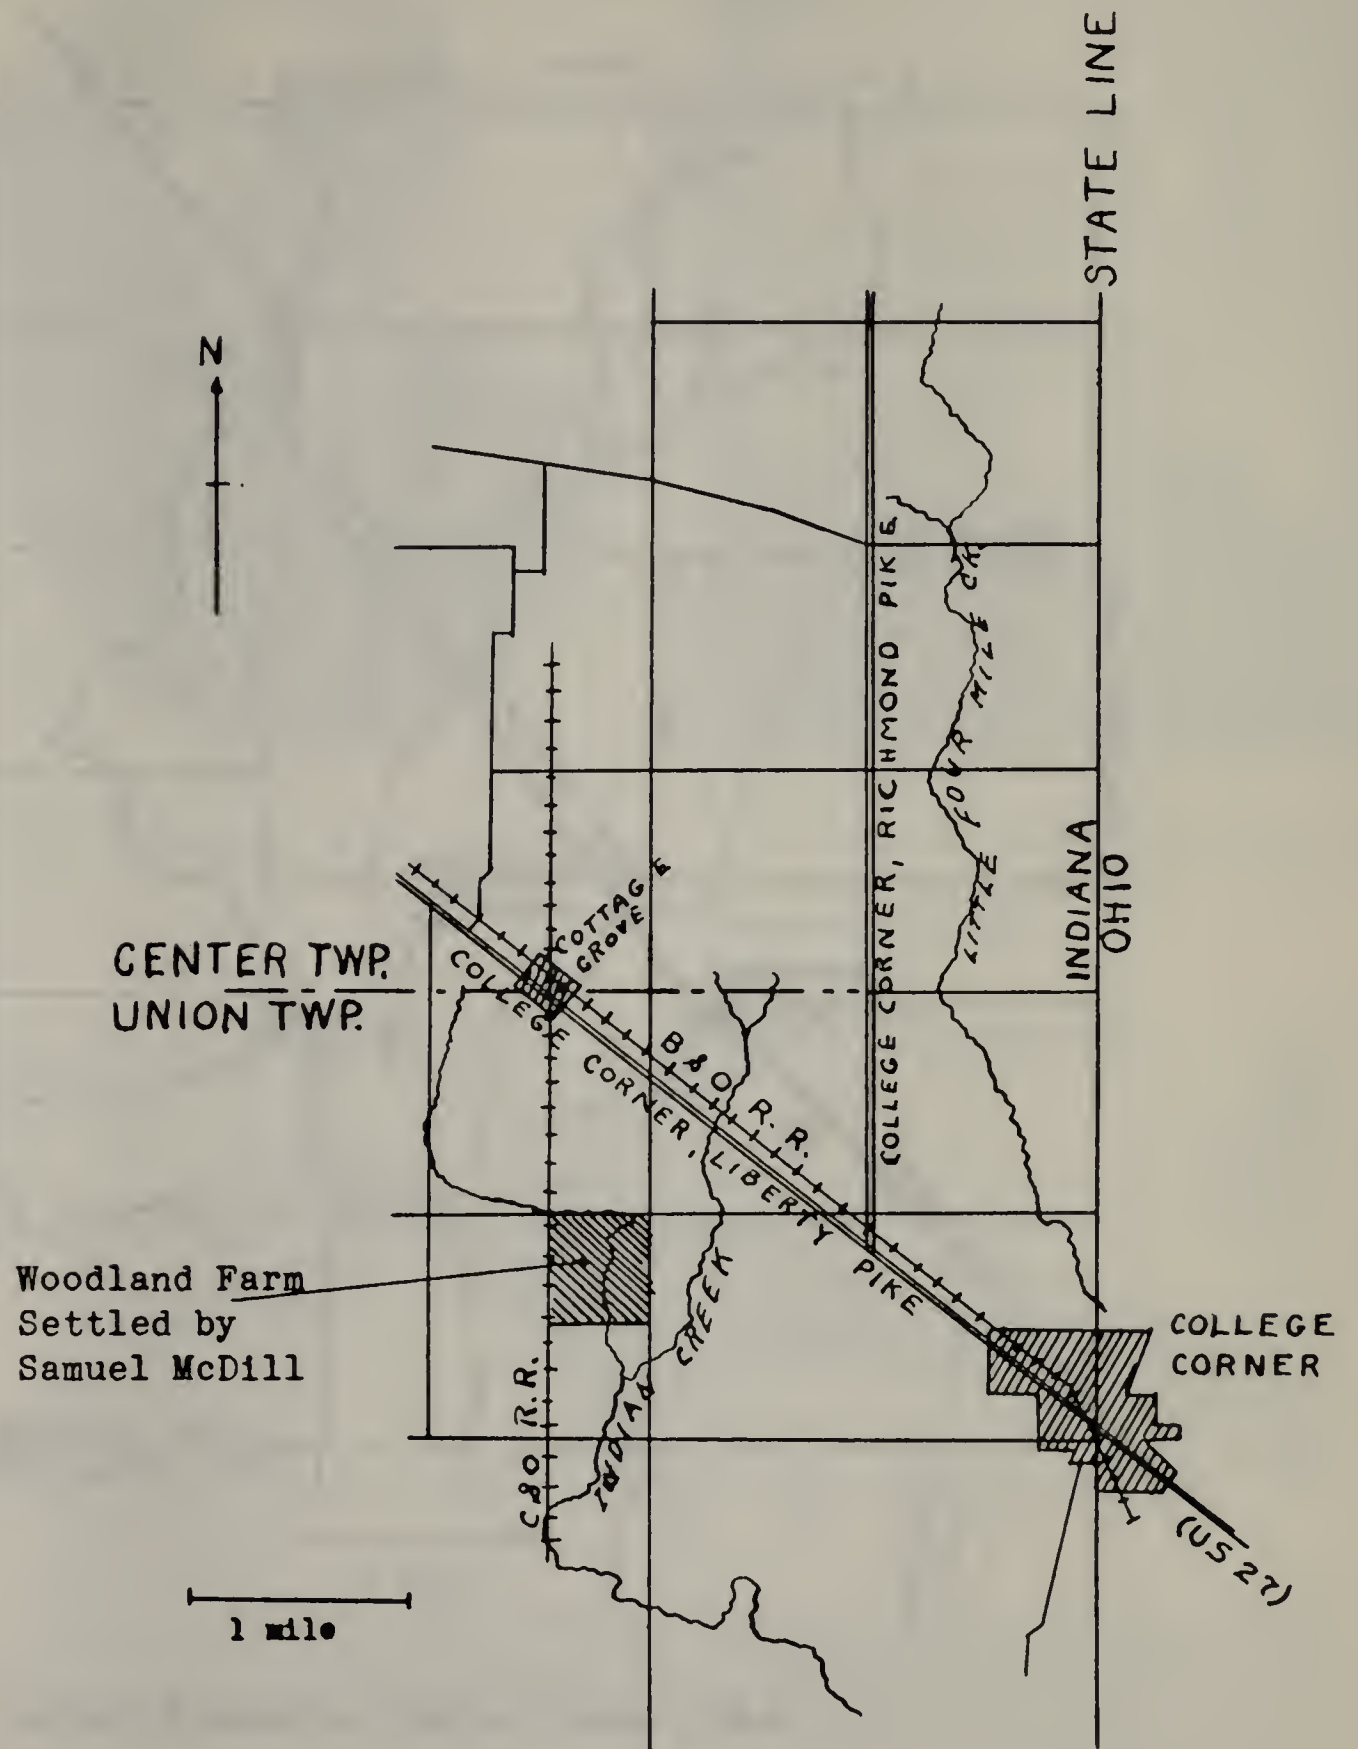

John McDill, Chester Co., S. C., 1790 census	- 1 slave.
William Whitfield McDill, Abbeville Co., S. C., 1860 census	- 6 slaves
Thomas McDill, Abbeville Co., 1860 census	- 2 slaves

About the year 1806 a number of families left South Carolina because of their hatred of slavery and in covered wagons started north. Among these was David McDill and his family. On the first Saturday evening, the majority of the company, true to their religious convictions, prepared to remain in camp over the Sabbath. A few of the company declared that this would be a waste of time, so they pushed on the next day. Not many days had passed until the company who had rested on the Sabbath, among whom were the McDills, passed the other company. The latter passed the Sabbath observing company on the following Sabbath. This occurred several times, each time, the company which rested passed the other company a little earlier in the week. Finally both man and beast in the company traveling seven days a week became so worn out that they failed to overtake the other and the two companies were lost to each other - a splendid illustration of the necessity of a weekly day of rest.

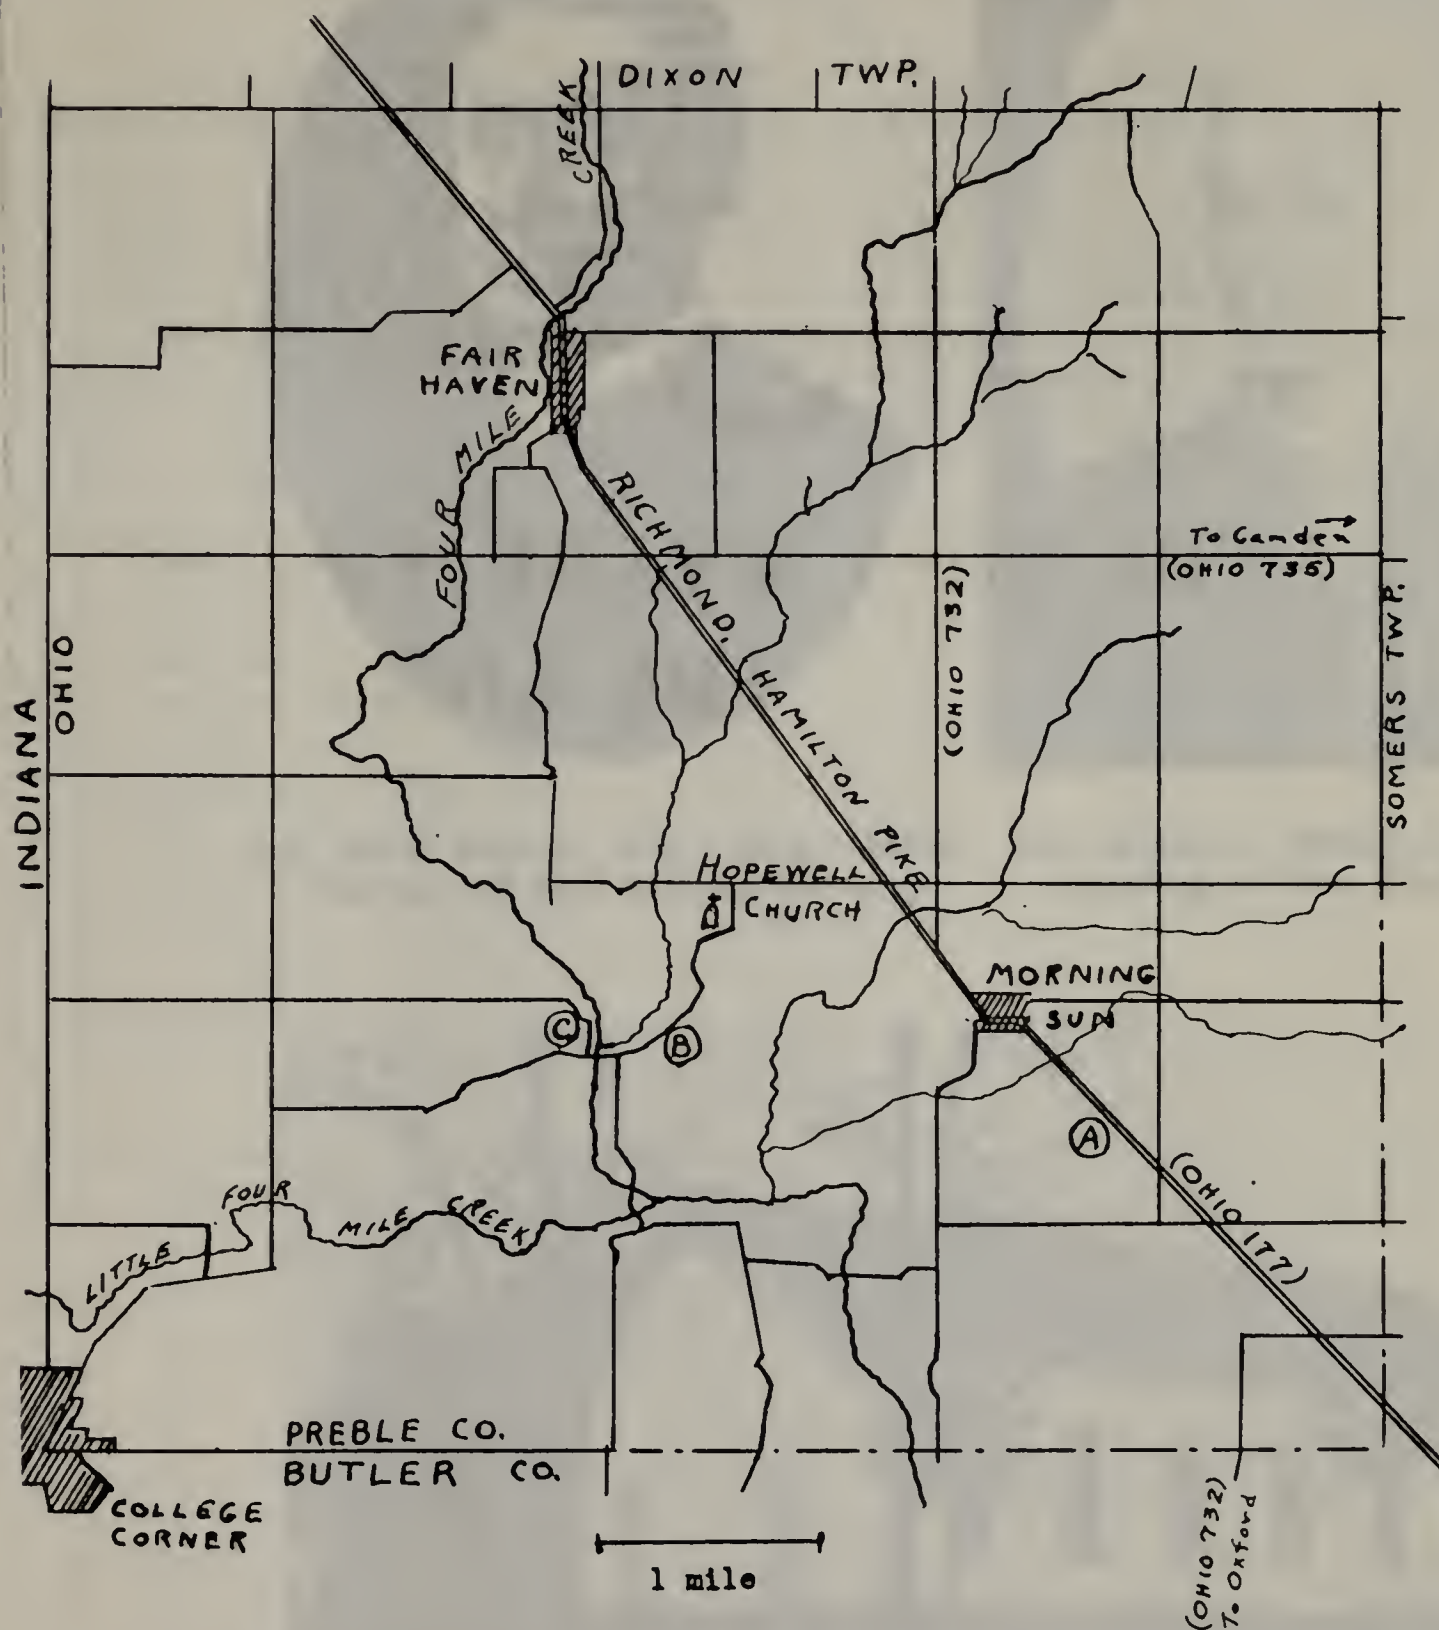

After crossing the Ohio river into the wilderness of Ohio, the travelers debated which way to turn. They at last let the horses choose and they turned towards, and finally came to what is now known as Preble County, Ohio. The land in which the McDills settled was covered with timber, among which the beech trees predominated, hence the name Beech Woods. David McDill bought a section of land, 640 acres, on which the deer still roamed.

The following story is told by Clarence Sheldon (B21-131) about his father, Chauncey H. Sheldon. C. H. Sheldon enlisted in Co. B 20th Reg. Vol. Inf. at Oxford, Ohio on Apr. 18, 1861. The company was recruited from the students at Miami University. A woolen mill located at Oxford presented each soldier with a pair of blankets and furnished red flannel enough to make two suits of underwear for each man. The garments were made by the students of the Western College for Women and the Oxford Female College. Mr. Sheldon served four months with this regiment. Later he went to Illinois and served with the 88th Ill. Vol. Inf. and was wounded in the battle of Perryville, Ky. In 1865 he again enlisted in the 150th Ill. Vol. Inf. During this last enlistment he was stationed much of the time at Atlanta, Ga. A part of his work was to make contracts between the planters and the freedmen. Here he met an old man who had lived near Chester, S. C. When this man learned that he had first gone into the army from Ohio he inquired from what part he had come. When told, the southwestern part, he remembered that as a small boy he had seen a group of South Carolina people leave that country for Ohio because of their hatred for slavery. When Mr. Sheldon asked the names of these people it developed that it was the group that had settled near Hopewell church. Mr. Sheldon told him that he had grown up among these people and that as soon as he could get out of the army and get established, he expected to marry the descendant of one of them. After Mr. Sheldon's marriage to Mary McDill, they moved first to Clifton, Ill. and then in 1883 they moved to Columbus, Nebr. They carried out the traditions and the ideals of the group who left their homes to settle in a wilderness because of their principles. They have given their descendants a worthy example and a glorious heritage to guard.

McDill attended Miami University, Oxford, Ohio and Center College at Danville, Ky. from which he graduated in 1848. He studied theology at Oxford, Ohio; was licensed by First Ohio Presbytery, May 14, 1851; was ordained by Ind. presbytery (A.R.) Nov. 23, 1852 and installed pastor of Richland and Milroy congregations in Rush County, Indiana; on Apr. 13, 1859 he resigned from Milroy and continued as pastor of Richland for over forty years until Sept. 14, 1896. He spent the later years of his life near his boyhood home with his son, Rev. S. H. McDill, then pastor of Hopewell congregation, Preble County, Ohio. He received the degree of D. D. from Monmouth College in 1882, was moderator of the Second Synod in 1875. Though never strong physically, we are safe in saying that no country minister ever did more pastoral work than he. Whereever there was sickness, poverty or woe, there Dr. McDill was found, no matter what the creed or the character of the person might be, nor how deep the mud might be on those Indiana roads. His mode of travel was by horseback and often in winter it required two horses to do his work. His genial disposition and his fondness for joking made him a welcome visitor, yet he never neglected to speak the word of comfort or warning or of reproof ere he left the home. Neither did he allow his pastoral work to crowd out the preparation of his weekly messages to his flock. He was the author of several publications including: "Charge at Inauguration of Professors of Xenia Seminary", 1873; "Coming to Jesus", 1880; "Address at Quarter Centennial Celebration of the U. P. Church", 1883; "History of Hopewell U. P. Church"; "Address at Celebration of Monongehela Presbytery"; "History of Rev. Adam Rankin and His Controversies"

The style of his articles was always clear, pointed and qualities characterized his preaching, while his manner was reverent and devout in the pulpit and yet frequently indulged in sarcasm, of which he was a thorough master.

John McDill graduated from Miami University 1829; studied theology privately under a preceptor; licensed by First Ohio Presby. Dec. 11, 1832; ordained by Indiana Presby. (A.R.) as pastor at South Hanover, Ind. June 22, 1835-May 18, 1838. Mrs. Edith McDill Light, a granddaughter, tells this interesting bit about Rev. John McDill: "Grandfather told my father that it was a custom of the McDills to choose one boy to be educated for the ministry. He wanted very much to be the one but feared he would not be. When the preacher came to make the choice, to his great joy, he was chosen. It is said of my grandfather that he was a good man but modest. He had a red nose and suffered because it might be thought he was a drinking man. He wrote poetry but it has all been lost. Many years later when my father went to see his father's grave, he found it well cared for. Some men told him their father had said that John McDill was a good man and enjoined them to care for his grave."

B7 - GEORGE MCDILL

George McDill was born Sept. 3, 1777 in South Carolina and died Dec. 14, 1863 in Henderson Co., Ill. He was married in 1802 to Margaret Douglass (Duglas) who was born Nov. 2, 1779, and died Aug. 2, 1847. George McDill served in the War of 1812 as a Corporal. In 1825 George McDill moved with his family to Newton Co., Georgia and was influential in the organization of Hopewell A. R. P. Church in that community. After living there for about 12 years he became dissatisfied with the slavery question and in 1836 he came to Illinois with his son John, traveling on horseback, to select a location. They bought land near the timber for $8 per acre. In April 1837 they started overland in covered wagons and arrived in Henderson Co. on June 11th. George McDill and his family, except Mary and Margaret, who remained in Georgia, are buried at South Henderson.

In 1840 a wet season brought sickness to the home of George McDill and four of his children contracted prairie fever and died within a month. A sketch of the life of George McDill has been written and published by two of his grandsons, Miles O. and Robert R. Gordon.

Miles Oscar and Robert R. Gordon have written and published an interesting account of the life of their grandfather, George McDill.

B8 - ALEXANDER H. MCDILL

Alexander H. McDill was born in South Carolina in March 1780. He was never married and lived most of his life with his brother John. He died Mar. 12, 1838. He is buried in the Strong Graveyard near Chester, South Carolina. A letter from John to his brother Samuel, living in Indiana, tells of Alexander's death and asks for money to help put up a headstone at his grave.

Mrs. Ethel Austin (B44-67) relates the following story as told to her by her father. "His grandfather James, who always spelled his name Madill and signed his name that way in his will as well as in his Bible record, is buried at South Henderson. His wife died about the time of the 'California Gold Rush', and those days the caskets were made by hand. The carpenter that made the coffin was moving to California and so grandfather had his coffin made so that it would be made by the same man, and brought it home. He had a fourposter so he placed it under the bed. In it he kept candy for his grandchildren but gave it to them just a little at a time. He knew that they would not bother it there. When the children of new neighbors came to play the grandchildren would always want to play 'Hide and Seek'. Then one of them would tell the newcomer that under grandfather's bed was a good place to hide. They came out faster than they went in when they saw the coffin. After the death of his wife he lived six months of the year with his son, Samuel, and the rest of the year with his brother, George. He always moved his bedroom furniture. His grandchildren loved to help him as he moved his belongings with a one horse wagon. But on the last load not a child would ride as that load was the coffin. At the time of his death he had become so stout that the coffin was too small, so they bought a larger one and then took the other one apart and placed it inside the new one."

C- HUGH McDILL AND ROXANNA STUART

Hugh McDill was the son of John McDill and Janet Leslie. He probably was born in Ireland, although we have no record of the place or the date of his birth. Our first record of this family is that they started from Ireland in 1793 to join the other members of their family in South Carolina. The vessel on which they sailed was captured by a French privateer and all their goods were taken, including the Family Bible and all their records. They were finally landed at Baltimore, and from there went to northwestern Pennsylvania and settled in what was then Lycoming County, and afterwards designated as Wayne Township, Crawford County. Some of their descendents still live there.

Roxanna or Rosannah Stuart McDill, who was a very small woman, claimed that her family was descended in direct line from the Stuarts of Scotland, the records of which were lost when the vessel was captured by the French. She was born on Dec. 25, 1738 and died on her 96th birthday, Dec. 25, 1832.

Hugh McDill and Roxanna Stuart had six children, three sons and three daughters.

In the census of 1790 we find listed a second John McDill. Other records show that he moved from South Carolina to Randolph County, Illinois. There is no definite information to show his relation to the other South Carolina McDills but tradition tells us that he was a grandson of John and Janet Leslie McDill of Ireland. His father's name is said to have been John but he never came to America.

John McDill was born in 1749 in Belfast, Ireland and died Mar. 15, 1824 in Randolph Co., Ill. Since his will was made while he was living in South Carolina and the witnesses were still living there, it is recorded there as well as in Randolph Co. He was married in 1782 to Jane Bell. She was living near Columbia, S. C. when she died and therefore must have died before 1819 when John moved to Illinois. John McDill and Hugh McKelvey came to Illinois in the summer of 1818 and bought land but did not move until Nov. 1819, although John's son came in the spring of that year and began to improve the land. John is buried in Old Bethel Cemetery southeast of Sparta, Ill. In the askaskia Republican of Mar. 30, 1824 there is a notice of John McDill's death with the statement that he had served in the Revolutionary War.

From the records of Union Cemetery we find that Thomas S. McDill, Sarah Alexander McDill and William McDill are children of J. M. McDill and his wife was Louisa. This means of course that at least for a few years this family resided in the vicinity of Sparta, Ill.

ABBEVILLE AND TENNESSEE MCDILLS

Thomas McDill, b. June 17, 1771, and his wife, Jane, are said to have come from Ulster District, County Antrim, Ireland to South Carolina. There are known to have been four children: William, Thomas, Jane, and Mollie. In Thomas McDill's will recorded in Abbeville County, dated April 8, 1843, his wife is main beneficiary but he mentions his four children and then his grandchildren. An old Bible which had belonged to the son, Thomas, now in the possession of Thomas H. McDill, Gastonia, N. C. lists on a fly leaf the following:

Mary McDill, b. Jan. 15, 1797.

Robert McDill, b. Aug. 12, 1800.

Gean McDill, b. Oct. 9, 1802.

William McDill, b. Aug. 12, 1805.

Thomas McDill, b. Sept. 4, 1811.

Thomas McDill's wife is said to have been Jane McClintock.

With the exception of Thomas, William and Mollie nothing more is known about these children. In the 1850 census of Abbeville County, S.C. Savannah River Regiment we find the following:

Thomas McDill aged 38, farmer, born in S.C.

Elizabeth " 29

Jane A. " 9

Sarah A. " 8

Mary E. " 6

Margaret L. " 2

William McDill aged 45, farmer, born in S.C.

Cornelia F. " 27

Thomas R. " 17, student

Robert A. " 14

Jane A. " 9

Mary A. " 5

Martha F.(?) " 2

Through the efforts of Mr. Thomas H. McDill of Gastonia, and Mr. Claude McDill of Charleston, S. C. we have the following records of these families:

1. Mollie McDill (Mary), m. Lagroon.

11. Rebecca Lagroon

12. Mary Lagroon.

2. Robert McDill, b. Aug. 12, 1800.

3. Jane McDill, b. Oct. 9, 1802.
4. William McDill, b. Aug. 12, 1805; m. Cornelia F. The census record above shows that there were five children in the home in 1850, however, it is doubtful if all of these were the children of William and Cornelia. We have a record of a Cornelia McDill who married a McDonald and went to Arkansas, see page 159, with the four McDill children.
5. Thomas McDill, b. Sept. 4, 1811, d. June 19, 1877; m. Elizabeth Hill, b. Feb. 2, 1821, d. Jan. 30, 1911; both bur. Lebanon U.P. Cemetery near Fayetteville, Tenn. Thomas McDill was a member of Cedar Springs Church in Abbeville County before moving to Fayetteville, Tenn. about 1851. Dr. T. H. McDill of Gastonia, says that his grandfather was the owner of two slaves, Armps and Mary McDill. They had two children Jim McDill and Mary McDill who never married. Thomas McDill was a Union man and his slaves never left him even after gaining their freedom.

McDills in Arkansas

The McDills with their mother Cornelia McDill McDonald and her second husband, McDonald, migrated in the early fifties from South Carolina up the Arkansas River and landed at a point now known as Youngstown, out from Moscow, Ark. Youngstown was first known as Garrettsen's Landing. They settled within sight of the landing on the Arkansas River, out some distance from Greenwood (rr sta.) later changed to Moscow.

Cornelia who married the McDill was probably born at or near Abbeville Court House, S. C. or married to the McDill at that point. Another source of information says that the McDill lived originally in Chester County. (See also page 154).

McDills in North Carolina

Samuel McDill is listed in the 1790 Census in Salisbury District, Guilford Co., North Carolina. In 1800 according to the census record he had one son between 10 and 16 years of age and he was over 45, 3 daughters under 25. Another son under 10 is listed in the census of 1810 and the daughters are not listed. Samuel McDill died in 1811, his property was willed to his wife Jean McDill, a son Zeak, and daughter Betty. Nothing more is known of this family, however we find some families whose ancestors were born in this region in N.C.

Early McDills in Pennsylvania

Alexander McDill is mentioned in Bucks Co. Penn. records on Sept. 1730. The name does not appear again until 1741 when we find Jacob Medill applied for a warrent for a grant of land. In the history of the St. John's Church, Pequea, Lancaster Co. Penn., in the subscription list for the new church erected in 1753 we find the names of James and Jacob McDill. James and Isaac McDill are mentioned among the first pewholders in the new church. In the next year an agreement between Jacob and his son George is recorded. The tax lists of 1770 and 1780 tell us that James, James Jr., and George McDill were landholders. In the will of Jacob McDill, Sadsbury Twp. Lancaster Co., a member of St. John's Church, probated in 1771 we find these heirs listed, son James, sons in law, Robert Bailey, Benjamin Blythe and Stewart Herbert, [The names of the daughters were Margaret, Abigail and Sidney,] deceased son George's wife Sarah) two children Jacob and Elizabeth when they arrive to age. The will of George McDill, Salisbury dist., is dated June 1760 and was probated Apr. 21, 1780; his wife was Sarah, his son Jacob, daughter Elizabeth, and he had a brother James. The will which was probated May 6, 1795 is the will of James McDill, wife Mary, children; eldest George, James, Elizabeth Mary, Margaret, Nancy, Hanna and youngest son Isaac. The will of a George McDill whose wife was Margaret was probated June 20, 1809; the heirs were, sons Jacob, James, Hugh and George, daughters Catherine, Margaret and Jane. Records show that George McDill had sold part of his original land patent in 1798. In 1822 Margaret McDill died in Philadelphia and her will says that her son George and Jane were to share equally, Kitty shall have nothing." George McDill at this time was a resident in Philadelphia.

In a transfer of property we find that a Jacob McDill died on March 12, 1820 and had three daughters, Martha who married Robert Slemons, Sarah who married Samuel Boyd and Elizabeth who married Mathew Boyd.

From the Muster rolls we find that Isaac McDill, George McDill, James McDill and Jacob McDill served in the Chester Co. Militia in 1780-82. In 1812-14 James McDill and Hugh McDill served in the Militia.

In the 1790 census of Lancaster Co., Pa. we find that George and Jacob McDill are listed as heads of households and the same two names are given again in the 1800 census, and are not mentioned again. However, we find that about 1800 many people in these eastern counties were beginning to move into the western frontiers, throughout Maryland, Virginia, to Ohio and Tennessee. Many sections of Ohio were Military Lands, and were bought up by the folk from eastern Penn. and Maryland. In Washington Co., Maryland in the 1790 census we find listed the names of Catherine McDill and James McDill. Records show that Isaac McDill died intestate in 1789, Catherine McDill was appointed administratrix. No distribution of the property is given. In 1823 Catherine McDill died and the property was distributed to John McDill, John _____, and Henry Duebel equal shares. This was personal property for no land transfer is recorded. James McDill is not listed again in the census of Washington Co. Md. James had in his household in 1790 five males, and 5 females, of the males, three were under 16.

Two stories are told of the ancestors who came first to Chillicothe, Ohio. One story tells that James McDill rode horseback over the mountains, carrying in his saddlebags the money to buy land in Ross Co., which was Military lands. Another story says that three brothers and their wives came down the Ohio. Illness detained them in this region and they came and settled in Ross Co. This was about 1800 or before for we find that James McDill died in 1801, and is buried in McDill cemetery near Chillicothe. All evidences point to the fact that these two families are related but we have no proof of it.

Of the 1820 census we have been able to place all of the folks listed except James McDill who was over 45, with a son 25 to 45, and two daughters 16 to 25 years.

Our information for this family has been obtained through court records, census records, family Bible records, and from old papers, and writing to and visiting with members of the family and while there may be some mistakes we feel justified in arranging the family in this way.
